The trouble with death

The trouble with death is the mystery

The trouble with death is love's letting go

Photographs and history

All that's left

and that's all we know

The trouble with death is unforgiving

The trouble with death is that chances slip by

Such a short time that we're living

We barely have time to wonder why

Holding your hand

Touching your hair

To see your face and feel your breath

One more chance to clear the air...

The trouble with death is it comes so sudden

The trouble with death is the waiting game

Try to change it when it's coming

It chooses the time

just the same

The trouble with death is the leaving

The trouble with death is a whole lot of pain
The people who stay to do the grieving Wishing and praying they'll see you again
