Alberta Doctor shares what's on her mind through poetry

Not billable

Shop talk done

smooth back the hospital sheet

add a warm blanket

tuck your feet in

add another

gather water

no ice

for the side table

we amble through the photos on your phone

lambing season

at the family farm

your great-granddaughter

beaming

in her red rubber boots fifteen minutes overtime

and yet

the highlight of my day

The following poem, Oath, is of the genre “found poems”.

Found poems take existing texts and refashion them, reorder them, and present them as poems. The literary equivalent of a collage, found poetry is often made from newspaper articles, street signs, graffiti, speeches, letters, or even other poems.

The poem Oath is Dr. Roth’s original writing using the Hippocratic Oath.

Oath

I hold an oath
swear to impart
carry out
my art
and livelihood

I need
and want to do no harm

injustice is poison

will my ability to administer judgement
benefit patients

or fee regimens?

I will not harm

we break bodies

what should be holy

witnesses to keep

pure

I enter

indenture

outside what my family

will ever

hear published

I hold

the knife

and stone

teach my art

abstain

not abusing

what should not be my life

my art

The Physician and Family Support Program (PFSP) invites original physician poetry submissions

PFSP recognizes the importance of the emotional and social aspects of physicians' lives in their overall wellness. We invite Alberta physicians in any career stage to send in their original poems/prose to be considered for publication in the PFSP Perspectives column in future issues of Alberta Doctors' Digest.

- Submissions (under 500 words please) can be emailed to pfsp@albertadoctors.org. Please put the phrase "poetry submission" in the subject field of the email.
- We will acknowledge receipt of your submission. If it is selected for publication, we will work with the ADD editor to determine when it can be published.
- For further information or questions, please email pfsp@albertadoctors.org, and one of our team will get back to you.
